THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attends the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 350,000 gounds of various herbs are used anually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural junces and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

these herbs.

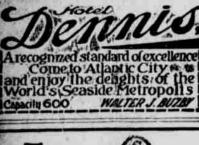

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

LAYMEN AND WOMEN DEMAND MORE RIGHTS

Strong Organization of Women Backs Movement for Laity Rights at Conference.

Atlanta, Ga., May 8.—It is announced by the members of the revival com-mittee in the Methodist general con-ference that a report has been formu-lated on the question of women's rights in the law membership of the church, recommending that the conference en-act such legislation as will grant the women of the church the rights they contend for. The matter of women's rights in the lay membership has for many years commanded the attention of church leaders. A strong organization of church women is back of the appeal, headed by Miss Belle Bennett, of Nashville, Tenn. At a meeting of the Woman's Missionary council during the past few weeks a memorial was indorsed and instructions given for it to be presented to the conference L: this session. They specifically ask that the church discipline be so changed as to give them full lay rights by eliminating the following paragraphs:

548. It is not in harmony with the spirit of our law that women be memers of a district conference.
594. It is not lawful to elect voman a steward.

WHERE HUNS MASS MEN FOR NEW DRIVE AGAINST ITALY

The cross shows where the Austrians are massing troops and supplies in the Trentino for a new drive against Italy. This concentration would indicate that a blow directly south is contemplated. The present battle line (solid black line) extends through a mountainous country in this district. If the Huns could drive the Italians out of the mountains into the plains below, the whole Italian line would have to fall back, probably to the line of the Adige river (dotted line), which would mean the loss of Venice.

A political crisis involving the security of the Lloyd George govern-ment has arisen in Great Britain over the letter written by Gen. Maurice, formerly chief director of military operations, in which he questioned the ve-racity of the premier and the chancellor of the exchequer. In the house of commons a parliamentary tilt between Andrew Bonar Law, for the govern-ment, and former Premier Asquith resulted in the government's acceptance of a motion by Mr. Asquith that the house discuss the form of inquiry to be made into the statements of Gen.

The motion will be debated in the house Thursday and the government has decided to stand or fall on the vote taken after the discussion. The government looks upon the motion as a vote of censure and has called its supporters to be in the house for a vote

The edging-in- process was continued by the British last night in the important sector east of Amiens between the Ancre and the Somme, the Australians following their recent successes here. The operation was a purely local one, but it resulted in anchoring the British line more firmly on the ridge between Sailly-le-Sec and Morlancourt and thus putting it in a better position to resist the expected German assault.
